Some outstanding examples of ceramic art were displayed last night at the Mountain View Recreation headquarters in Roanoke. (Start film)

The ceramics were made by local craftsmen as part of a recreation project. The highest award in the show classification went to a lobster dish made by Mrs. T. C. Poole, junior. Paul Miller, junior took a top award for a bust of his father.

And top standing in excellence of technique went to Mrs. Sidney Vaughn for a religious scene done in the Garden City Recreation Center.

Mrs. Margaret Smith - a supervisor for the Department of Parks and Recreation - termed the show a "huge success."
