

Feb 7

Republican Senator Thruston B. Morton of Kentucky was first in a series of distinguished Americans to address the annual symposium on Public issues at Washington and Lee University.

The symposium, which got underway yesterday, will run thru Saturday.

Morton is a member of the Senate committee on commerce, the District of Columbia and ~~xxxx~~ Finance, as well as the committee on aging.

(Start film)

Senator Morton was asked if bombing should be halted in Vietnam before coming to the conference table:

(Show film)

((Sound Up:))

(Out Cue: in that situation today....))

- COMM - SLIDES