Virginia's new Education Commission...~~(show film)~~ met in Richmond today to begin their work on some new program to contain ~~the~~ integration in public schools.
~~(show film)~~

The 40 member commission huddled in its first session at noon today with Chairman Mosby Perrow of Lynchburg presiding. The press was barred from the closed-door get-together. A short time after the session began, a committee of 2....Senator Joe Hutcheson of Lawrenceville and Delegate J. J. Williams of Henrico County left the chamber and went to the Governor's office. A few minutes later, Governor Almond returned with the committee and as he entered the chamber the commission stood and applauded. Almond carried in his hand what appeared to be the text of his remarks to the commission members. His office had said earlier this would not be made public. Yesterday, Almond told ~~the~~ TV that his remarks would deal largely with the ~~points~~ in his speech to the General Assembly two weeks ago...including tuition grants and pupil placement.
